Herbert Litteral Escaped Death In Bus Fire

A Cedarville young man, Herbert Litteral, 20, miraculously escaped death in a Greyhound bus fire near Bloomington, Ind., shortly after midnight, Aug. 10. Loaded to its 37-passenger capacity the bus left Indianapolis for Bloomington, a Greyhound official stated. On winding hills it struck the abutments of a bridge, overturned and burst in flames.

Fifteen passengers were burned beyond recognition, making identification impossible, the coroner said.

Some one kicked out the emergency door towards the rear of the coach, and Litteral and a dozen or so others escaped. The young man suffered only cuts and abrasions, the reports say. He was en route to New Orleans when the accident occurred.

His mother, Mrs. Charles Oney, lives in Cedarville.

He is an employee of the W. A. Hammond Electric company in Xenia.
Many of the passengers had to walk through flames five feet high to get away from the bus. The escape of the 20 from death or serious injury is considered miraculous.

Name Three New Directors at Fair Election

Three new directors will be on the thirteen-member board of the Greene County Agricultural society, sponsor of the annual fair, when it meets to reorganize next December.

Six directors, including three who were re-elected, were named to the board for three-year terms by agricultural society members in balloting at the fairgrounds last Thursday and Friday.

The new directors, replacing three board members retiring this year, are James H. Hawkins, Xenia, township, former county commissioner, succeeding B. U. Bell, Xenia, treasurer and board member thirty years; Mrs. Leroy Jacobs, Miami township, who replaces Mrs. L. H. Jones, Yellow Springs, retiring this year after serving on the board twenty-five years, and Charles Leach, Sr., Silvercreek township, who succeeds Ernest Tenk of that township. Mr. Jenks, completing his first three-year term, is resigning at the end of this year.

Re-elected to the board for new three-year terms were Gerald Bock, Jefferson township; Earl Rittenour, Rose township; and Elmer W. Wolf, Beaver Creek township.

About 700 ballots were cast, representing a record vote, the directorate announced after tabulating the results at the Court House Saturday afternoon.
Other directors are Ralph K. Haines, Caesar Creek township, president; Walter K. Haines, Sugar Creek township, and Harold M. Van Pelt, Spring Valley township, whose terms end in 1950; J. Weir Cooper, Xenia, township, vice president; C. H. Harner, Benton township, Franklin Boots, Xenia, R. R. 2, and Ralph Townsley, Cedarville township, who will serve until 1951.

Hospital Work Started With Concrete Pouring

Pouring of concrete has been started by Charles Shook, Inc., Dayton general contracting firm, and long-awaited construction of the $1,300,000 Greene County Memorial hospital is under way. Myron R. Fudge, near Jamestown president of the building board of trustees, disclosed.

Mr. Fudge said the contractor had many forms in place and some footers for the foundation have been poured.

The Shook firm first prepared access streets to the hospital site in Xenia's north end. Wilson Drive, a new street curving east off North Detroit street to the hospital location, was graded and gravelled so that trucks and other vehicles could be in and out. Funds for the hospital's construction and equipment come from an $850,000 bond issue passed in November, 1947, plus U. S. aid.

Fudge & Son Win Prizes on Ayrshire Cattle

Listed among the entries, for the Ohio State fair to open in Columbus, August 27, is Myron Fudge and Son's 12 Ayrshire cattle.

This week at the Clinton county fair's District Ayrshire show these Jamestown breeders won Senior, Junior and Grand champion bulls.

In the opinion of experts familiar with cattle, blood lines and herd practices, Myron R. Fudge and Son are leaders not only in this area but in the state and nation.

Jamestown folk will hear the news of their success at the neighboring fair with pride, and will be expecting similar news from the big show at Columbus.

Higher Liquor Rates Proposed

A proposal schedule of higher prices for liquor in Ohio contemplates a larger share for each county.

According to estimates there would be an increase of about $8,000,000 in revenue from liquor sales in the state.
Greene county's share in the increase would be over $20,000, according to W. W. Mitchell, chairman of the state liquor control board.

Labor Day Field Day Is Certainty

At a regular meeting of the Cedarville Progressive club at Community park shelter house Monday night, committee reports showed that a gala celebration is in store for the people of Cedarville and nearby communities this Labor day.

Bradley Kinkaid and his mountain boys will be a main feature both afternoon and evening at two big one-hour shows. It is expected that the Hamilton tumbling team, state champions, will perform both afternoon and evening. This proved to be a popular attraction last year.

The Cedarville Merchants team expects to have a good league game starting at 12:30 p. m. Our boys' one league championship and are now in the playoff tournament.

The local high school band under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Foster, will give an evening concert. It may be that a German band from the local school will provide popular tunes during the day.

Local merchants and citizens will be asked to contribute cash or merchandise to help sponsor the day's activities. It is a definite understanding that the park program will benefit from net proceeds from field day profits.

An attractive midway will be established to provide fun and entertainment for both old and young.

In the evening following the Bradley Kinkaid show, an auction will be held and drawings for grand prize and numerous free prizes to holders of lucky tickets.

There will be numerous contests for boys and girls, including two greased pig contests, a sack race, egg-throwing and others.

There will be various exhibits including those for boys and girls in hobby shows, handicraft and baking.

Charles Rheubert, who is general chairman for Labor day, states that his committees are hard at work to provide a bigger and better field day than has ever been held. Complete program will be published in the Herald next week.

Plan to have your Labor day fun and entertainment at the Community park, Cedarville.

Merchants Guests Of Fish and Game

Merchants in Greene county were invited guests Wednesday, August 10, at a fish fry given by the Greene County Fish and Game association at the club house north of Xenia.

The guests were the merchants who have generously, during 20 years, donated prizes for the various affairs the association has staged. Annual picnics call for many prizes. Merchants have responded in a spirit of co-operation. The picnic was the payoff the association felt it owed the merchants.

Hereford Men And Families Have Picnic

Hereford breeders were guests at the home of H. Dana Williams, west of Wilmington, Wednesday.

Buckeye Polled Hereford folk flocked in to attend the picnic, with their noses tuned to the huge pit in which over 500 lbs. of the choicest beef steved in its own barbecue juice for a full 24 hours before the dinner bell rang.

Not an item was overlooked in preparing the feast.

OSU experts cured the meat a few days previous. Hostess Kathryn selected and prepared the beans to make part of the burgo—a concoction, they say, once you've tasted you'll never be the same—or want to be!

"Red hots" at the picnic didn't mean hot dogs—they meant coals over which the meat was done to a turn. . . Not to the queen's taste, because hungry men can hardly be herded back to allow the queen to get so much as a taste!

"It's a great country we live in!" exclaimed a Herefordian, wiping drool from his mouth. "We oughtn't to complain about anything!"

"Who's complainin'?" gurgled another breeder, selling himself on the merits of Polled Herefords by a three-pound sample of that kind of meat!

Two hundred and fifty persons from nine states were present.

Harold and Mary Louise Armstrong vs. Mrs. John A. Kellis, seeking judgment; amount claimed $412.50.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT

Whether for or against military aid to Europe, anyone interested in sound government ought to be shocked at the terms of President Truman's bill designed to arm the world against Russia. It proposes to give him unlimited authority to give arms to any government in the world which he wishes to strengthen. It is not confined to Atlantic Pact countries. The new bill gives the President the right to give away any government property if he says it is surplus and since no appropriations are necessary, this power seems to be without limit.

It even includes naval vessels. It is not clear whether even atom bombs are excepted from the President's give-away powers.

The bill proposes cash authorization for $1,450,000,000 but it says that another half billion of material may be given away without appropriation.

"Think of the tremendous power which this proposal gives the President to involve us in any war throughout the world, including civil wars where we may favor one faction against another! No individual ought to have such power, certainly not Mr. Truman or his Secretary of State."

I am opposed to the whole idea of giving the President power to arm the world against Russia or anyone else, or even to arm Western Europe, except where there is a real threat of aggression. We are stimulating an armament race. We are trying to restore a military balance of power on the European continent. Such policies in the past have always led to war rather than to peace.

FURTHERMORE, as a deterrent to war, the plan seems to me most ineffective. It is said that at least 60 Divisions are necessary to enable Western Europe to defend itself against Russia, and the cost of modern divisions of that type would be at least $20 billion. Russia has been deterred from military aggression by the strength of the American armed forces and particularly by our air force with its atomic bombs. The Russians are not going to be any more deterred by the transfer of a lot of obsolete equipment and a small fraction of the aid necessary for really effective armies in Western Europe.

We are proposing to give these arms to a dozen different countries. Of course after each country gets its share we have no control, and we don't know how they may be used. The governments may turn Communist or Fascist. They may aid Russia instead of fighting against it. Russia may capture the arms before we get there.

We are already giving Europe $5 billion a year to rebuild her economic strength. And as the State Department admits: "Military strength cannot be effective or lasting unless it rests on the foundations of economic health and stability."

JUST as the economic health of Europe is essential in the battle against communism, so, in particular, is sound prosperity in the U. S. Facing a deficit of $3-$5 billion next year, should we start now on a vast new spending project which may extend itself to the Near East, the Far East and to South America? The limits to the cost of this militarism cannot be foreseen.

In general, I feel that if we have the money to spend, which we do not, it is more effective as a deterrent to war if we strengthen our own American military forces. I would favor sending arms to a country when it can be shown that the country is really threatened by Russian military aggression. On the basis of this conviction I voted for military assistance to Greece and Turkey, and I would vote for like aid to China.

But the scatter-gun blanket approach of arming anybody in the world of whom the President may approve seems to me the best calculated method of producing a bankrupt American economy and the tragedy of a third world war.

Demonstration Farms Proposed As Models

A mere $250,000,000 is the whispered mention of the initial cost of a new must-help-em plan in congress.

Congressman Pace, a Democrat, from Georgia is father of the idea of establishing a model demonstration farm in every agricultural county in America and a county-ag building on each farm.

Federal aid (if you have heard that expression) is to be asked for grants to the counties in setting up the model farms and buildings. All federal agricultural agencies are to be housed under one roof, which calls for a big building and a wide roof!

A joint state-government holding company of some sort is proposed. Operation of the farms is to be through land-grant colleges.

As would be expected the idea of spending $250,000,000 caught on quickly on Capitol Hill. Many congressmen expressed sympathy with the proposals.

But congressman Cooley—and he's a Democrat, too, from North Carolina—didn't listen so very attentively. "They've got to tell me a lot more about it," he said, "before I'd approve sending it to the agriculture committee."

Already there is a program on to appropriate $50,000,000 for rural rehabilitation. This calls for private ownership from trust fund loans.

But the next session of congress will hear more about it.

Modernized Parity Formula Is Favored

A "modernized" parity price formula will be a part of the farm bill.

The sub-committee which has been holding closed sessions on the formula and the general bill thinks some form of modernized parity is sure to recommend.

A parity price is one intended to give a farm product the same relative purchasing power it had in a past period of favorable farm incomes. It is used in determining government loans and purchases of farm products.

The new formula would use a recent 10-year period—which includes the prosperous wartime era—for determining parity.

Good Neighbor Policy at Work

A quartet of Methodists—Grant Morgan, John Morgan, Ulric Acton and Harry Allen—got something started in Milledgeville when they presented the idea of merging in and did what folks in the community consider a splendid job. Enthusiasm, religious and civic, is at a new high in Milledgeville.

Enlisting the aid of almost all the church members, the quartet "turned in" and did what folks in the community consider a splendid job. Enthusiasm, religious and civic, is at a new high in Milledgeville.

MORE FAYETTE JOBS

A study of the state bureau of unemployment figures shows that unemployment is decreasing in Fayette county. Jobs are increasing and claims decreasing.

Little Hands Become Big Hands To Help Dad at Dairy Barn

With an electric dairy hot water heater little hands become big hands when you can't just "turn it on," at least that's the way little Billy Heintz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Heintz of R. R. 1, Jackson Center, Shelby county, feels. And it's such an easy way of helping dad around the barn, just turn on the faucet and out comes plenty of steaming hot water necessary for the many cleaning chores about the milkhouse.

A thermostatically controlled electric dairy hot water heater right in the milkhouse enables Billy to just "turn on" the faucet and fill bucket after bucket. Without this electric convenience he would have to carry each bucket of hot water from the house, one at a time, or load up his coaster with a couple of buckets and make many a trip from the house to the barn. By having an electric dairy hot water heater in the milkhouse Billy can carry many more buckets, so little hands become big hands because electricity has lightened the load and given the farmer and his family many conveniences that help increase production and insure more successful farming.

According to Mr. I. P. Blauser, extension agricultural engineering specialist of Ohio State university, there are other needs for hot water in the dairy in addition to those used for cleaning the milking utensils and keeping them in sanitary condition. Hot water is needed for bathing sore or swollen udders, for washing the udders before milking, and for taking care of mother and calf at time of freshening. An adequate supply of hot water is of utmost importance for milk production and for sanitation.

The production of high quality milk means increased profits for the farmer and, in turn, better living for the farmer and his family.

PENNSY PAYS HIGH TAX
According to records in the treasurer's office the Pennsylvania railroad pays about one-tenth of all taxes on real estate in Greene county. The B & O railroad and the Dayton Power and Light Co. are other heavy taxpayers.

Mrs. George Fops has returned to her home in Yellow Springs from a visit with her daughter in London, England.

New Hospital Manager Hired

While Greene county's new hospital is rapidly assuming shape and everything connected with it is progressing according to schedule, neighboring Payette county is far enough with its similar hospital to employ a manager. Miss Christine Evans of Columbus. Nearby Clinton county still hasn't let the contract for the hospital for which bonds were voted.

Editorial PARAGRAPHS

The White House is to be renovated—news item. Some folks believe the renovation should include a new tenant.

To "do over" the White House is to cost $5,400,000. That's Congress's first guess. What's been "done over" in the White House down through the years has often cost us a lot more than that.

Headline: "Final Drivers Class Underway." Just so they don't get underfoot!

The agricultural problem is not scarcity, but surpluses.

Our fair and one of our neighbor's fairs are over. Another one is on this week. Fair—and warmer—has worked out as a prediction.

A-bombs are being turned out on an assembly-line basis. We hope no careless worker gets behind in his work and fails to put in the set screw he's supposed to.

A Martland man kissed his wife in public and was fined $10 for disturbing the peace—and it probably surprised his wife $15's worth.

Aga Kahn, father of Aly Kitten, who married Rita Hayworth, got himself robbed in Paris. And with the prospect of "soon" (so the papers say) of becoming grandpa, the old boy was going to need the dough!

"Body of woman found in creek" says a headline. We saw one in Massies creek, but it didn't look like it needed any help.

Time was when judging a cornfield was by the height of the stalks. Hybrid came along. Farmers became more interested in ears than in fodder height. This year's crop is taller than usual.

The puzzle about corn this year is not having it, but where to put it.

An attraction at county fairs in the Kentucky-born quadruplet calves. They greeted their surprised mama and her owner in a pasture field in October, 1948. They weigh—all of them that is—1,750 pounds. Quad calves occur about once in 100,000 calf births.

A pretty 16-year-old girl drove a horse to win a race at the fair at Washington C. H. Any judge that noticed any other driver holding up a bit looked the other way. He probably missed a word in spelling once to let a certain girl go above him in class.

Nothing about modern farming is as significant as the 4-H, FFA, vo-ag school courses, all tending to encourage farm young folks to stay on the farm. Time was when all a farm boy or girl planned was to get off the farm and work in town.

THIS 'N' THAT

Charles Sawyer has been going around the country getting his picture in the papers at airports as chamber of commerce men shake hands with him, telling them that "the economic outlook is good." It is—for him!

The new chairman of the state parole board is Percy Lowry of Columbus. He has a splendid reputation for ability, honesty and intelligence. He is a Negro. The significant thing about this paragraph reporting a very American news item. It can't happen elsewhere.

By the new European pact the president, at his own discretion, may send arms and munitions to anybody, anywhere—to Fiji Islanders or Andean goat herders. It took a lot of blood and sweat and tears to work out a revision of powers like that through the generations since the day of the feudal lord, and the king who could do no wrong.

Admiral Byrd is planning another trip to the Pole, South Pole that is. One would think there couldn't be much difference between the North Pole and the South Pole, but some funist says there is all the difference in the world! Admiral Byrd is 61. He plans to take about 3,500 folks with him and eight boats. If you went, you'd want at least that much, eh?

The Circus of Death is advertised as a fair attraction. It's going on all the time.

Singing Holidays

Lesson for August 14, 1949

IF A CITIZEN OF THE U.S.A. observed all the holidays that are officially counted as legal, some where in his wide country, he would have 43 days off every year. Holidays are a national habit in all countries. Not content with what the law gives us, we take our personal vacations besides. But how many holidays do we sing about? (One might even dare to ask, how many are worth singing about?) In the United States, there are known to this writer no New Year songs, none for Decoration day or Labor day, none for Armistice day, none for the various birthdays celebrated hither and yon. (Who ever heard of a song to commemorate Thomas Jefferson?) We may not even sing on our personal vacations, we are too busy working up a sun. On the other hand, we could hardly think of Independence day, Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter without being reminded of the songs that go with them—The Star Spangled Banner or America the Beautiful for the Fourth of July, Now Thank We All Our God in November, and all the Christmas and Easter carols.

God and Country
T looks as if some kinds of holidays produce songs and others don't. It appears to be a general rule: If the holiday is specially patriotic or religious, then people sing; otherwise they don't. God and country, in short, arouse emotion and enthusiasm which (for example) the memory even of a great man like Jefferson, or the planting of a tree, does not. This is generally true throughout the world. It was true in ancient Israel, for many of the Psalms are holiday hymns, festive songs. Some years ago a religious denomination issued a new hymn book. One minister roundly denounced the book because it had introduced a few patriotic hymns. "My Country, 'tis of Thee" has no place in public worship, he said.

If that man had been a clever student of the Psalms, he would not have made such a criticism. Most patriotic hymns are really prayers for one's native land; Psalms 105 and 106 are only two of a number of Psalms which are in the best sense of the word patriotic. If the reader will look through the Psalms for himself, noting all the references to God and to Israel, remembering that Israel was the name of the poet's country, he will be convinced that in those times as in these, love for God and love for country are inseparable.

Hallelujah
OUR word "Hallelujah" is Hebrew, and comes from the Psalms. It means "Praise ye the Lord!" Incidentally, it is a religious word, and should not be used, as it so often is, irreverently or lightly. Psalms 111-118 in our Bible were sung as a group, and called the Hallel, or the Praise. The Hallel was sung regularly at the three great holiday festivals: Passover (near our Easter time), Pentecost (in early summer, ancestor of our Whitsunday), and Tabernacles (in the fall).

When our Lord had his "Last Supper" he and his friends would sing these very Psalms. The "hymn they sang before they went out" was very probably the latter part of this group, 116-118, always sung at the end of the Passover meal.

The note of praise in these Psalms is very strong. They are not in a minor key.

Parodies
A SAD FACT today is that the American world, which does not understand religion at all, has taken over our religious holidays but leaves the religious out. The result is a parody, something without rhyme or reason. Take a look, next winter, at Christmas greeting cards for sale. You will find scotchy pups, all sorts of things, more easily than you will find true Christmas messages.

For people who are not Christians, Christmas is only Xmas, a time for exchanging useless presents, a time for shopkeepers to make money.

And as for Easter, there are dyes where the items are only the bunnies and the parade, neither of which has the slightest thing to do with the real Easter.

CLARENCE J. BROWN Writes With a Buckeye In Congress

American tradition and sentiment have won. The White House, in which Dolly Madison hung out the family wash, will retain its present outer walls and lines, but will be completely reconstructed inside so as to be fireproof and safe for the centuries to come. The work of rebuilding the historic structure will take at least two years, with the cost expected to run at least two or three million dollars.

Legislation to bring about a real unification of the Army, Navy, and Air Forces, and to make possible savings of a billion and a half dollars a year, or more in our national defense expenditures, as recommended by the Hoover Commission, received the final approval of the Congress and the President last week. While granting the Secretary of National Defense broad powers to unify and direct the activities of the Armed Services, Congress did write into the law limitations to protect and maintain the separate identity of the Marine Corps and other combat organizations, which because of their past accomplishments, have become a part of the American tradition.

Comptroller General Lindsay Warren, who, as the agent of the Congress, audits all expenditures made in the Executive Branch of the Government, last week sent a report to Capitol Hill showing that in slightly over a billion dollars worth of war contracts audited he found "improper payments in excess of 6 million dollars which were induced by fraud." Of this amount he has been able to recover for the Government only 107 thousand 882 dollars. Rumor has it that much greater frauds and more shocking corrupt practices by those in high government positions during the war will soon be revealed.

Attorney General Tom Clark, who has been nominated by the President to be Supreme Court Justice to fill the vacancy created by the death of Justice Murphy, may not be promptly confirmed by the Senate. A number of Senators are considering the advisability of opposing confirmation of Clark's appointment.

The House last week without a dissenting vote approved a bill to increase pensions for the disabled veterans of all wars, as well as for the widows and orphans of veterans. The upward adjustment in these pensions was made to meet the increased cost of living. The nation, of course, must take adequate care of its disabled veterans, and of the widows and orphans of those who paid the supreme sacrifice on the field of battle.

There is a strong possibility that by next week the House may pass, during which time no legislation will be considered, in order to permit the Senate to clear up the accumulation of bills now waiting action in that body. The House will complete work this week on all important legislative measures now on its schedule, but the Senate has a number of appropriation and other bills still to consider. Under the Constitution neither House can adjourn for more than three days at a time while the other remains in session. Hence, the three-day recess arrangement which will permit House members to get away from Washington for a short time.

The Republican National Committee has a new Chairman, following a day-long meeting here in Washington last Thursday. He is Guy C. Gabrielson, the New Jersey member of the Committee. He was born, reared, and educated in Iowa, is 58 years of age, a successful lawyer and businessman, and has a reputation as an organizer. He succeeds Representative Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, who was personally selected for the Chairmanship by Presidential nomination. He was elected at the close of the Republican National Convention in Philadelphia last year. In the 1948 Convention Gabrielson supported the candidacy of Senator Robert Taft of Ohio for the nomination for President. Later he headed the organization which elected New Jersey for Governor Dewey in November.

The House has passed and sent to the Senate the Harris Bill which would make changes in the Natural Gas Act so as to limit the control of the Federal Power Commission over the transportation of natural gas from the wells to the consumption centers, such as Ohio. It is believed the passage of this law will guarantee a more plentiful supply of natural gas for Ohio homes and industries next winter.

Following all sorts of parliamentary maneuvers for two weeks, the Senate has at last approved the European Recovery Program authorization bill, but only after cutting the amount requested by the President another ten per cent. The House, which passed the bill many weeks ago, had also reduced the amount requested by the Administration for foreign aid.

The House is scheduled to vote upon the Administration Military Aid Program bill this week. The President has already agreed to the elimination of many of the broad grants of discretionary powers contained in the original measure, but it appears certain there will be many other limitations written into the measure, and that the over-all appropriation involved may be sharply reduced.

SQUIRES-DUNEVANT
Miss Helen Equires and Robert Dunevant were married Sunday at 4:30 in the Methodist church in Yellow Springs, Rev. Harry Baker reading the service.

GREENE'S TAVERN FEES

The share of Greene county from tavern fees for last year was $23,419.69. Night club permits are $1,000; $400 for mid-night closing hour for sale of liquor, and $200 for a private club.

Plant Ills Expert Has Important Job Task Complicated, Needs Much Study

Diagnosing plant ills is a complicated task and one which requires careful study. Specialists of the Clemson extension entomology and plant disease department suggest that, in arriving at decisions, consideration should always be given to possibility of winter injury and cold damage.

"Telling farmers and other plant growers what ails their plants is an important function of the agricultural workers," the specialists say. "It is the first step in prescribing the best possible remedy."

Seed treatment is not a cure-all, they point out, even though at times it is entirely effective in preventing the occurrence of diseases. "More frequently," the specialists added, "it is only one step in a disease control plan. Disease germs are harbored at times deep in the seed and away from the reaches of seed treatment."

They explained that diseases may be carried over on old crop refuse in the seed bed, on soil, or weeds. Other practices may be needed to obtain greatest disease control. For example, seed treatment alone does not completely control watermelon anthracnose, but in demonstrations last year seed treatment delayed the disease until late in the season when a minimum of dust applications proved practical.

It's Murder!

W. W. Allen, plant company chemist, gazes triumphantly at a poison ivy plant which has been sprayed with lethal weedone brush killer 32, the first preparation of its kind for destroying woody growth as well as weeds. The deadly plant shows the killing effect of the new preparation. Weedone brush killer 32 is a combination 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T. The killer whose effect is shown in this photo, was mixed with diesel oil when sprayed.

Two 'Rules of Thumb' Available to Dairymen

Dairymen interested in measuring the efficiency of their farm production now have two "rules of thumb" to use as guides. The more efficient dairymen are those who ship 50 gallons of milk daily for each full-time man employed in their dairy business, according to Joe Pou, extension dairyman at the University of Maryland. As another guide, he states that one gallon of milk should be produced daily for each acre of cropland and pasture used in feeding the dairy herd.

Range Shelters Pay Off For Raisers of Poultry

Successful poultrymen are increasing their use of range shelters. Range shelters are easier to build and cost less than a brooder house. They can be readily moved. Growing birds get more fresh air and access to clean body-building pasture. Missouri university tests showed that birds pastured on well-fertilized alfalfa were healthier and needed less feed for each pound of gain.

Camp Reservations Close

Tickets sales to Greene County Farm Men's Camp will close Aug. 17 and farmers expecting to attend this year's encampment should get their reservation tickets from their township committees or at the County Agents office. Raymond Spracklin is in charge of ticket sales and has named a committee in each township.

The camp will be held at Camp Clifton Saturday and Sunday August 20-21 and is sponsored by the Farm Forum, Miami township committee members are arranging the program.

The camp will open Saturday afternoon August 20 at 2:00 p. m. with claybird, rifle and pistol shooting. Charles Coulter, Donald Swisshelm, and Floyd Bailey will be in charge.

Archie Peterson, as program chairman, will be in charge of the Saturday evening program and Raymond Spracklin is chairman of the committee planning the Sunday morning service. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holsapple will be camp cooks.

Dairy Day August 12
Ohio's twenty-second annual Ohio Dairy Day will be Friday August 12 at the state experiment station at Wooster.

The program will get under way at 9:30 a. m., fast time, and is chucked full of subjects of interest to every dairymen. Copies of the program may be had at your county agents office.

Orchard Day August 18
Orchard reconstruction will be the general theme of the annual Orchard Day event of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster August 18.

New plantings of orchards are being suggested. Many apple, peach, cherry, plum, and pear orchards should be replaced with new ones. The importance of site, selection of varieties, pollination, and soil management will be emphasized on this year's program. A. F. Vierheller, extension horticulturist at the University of Maryland, will be the out-of-state speaker on the program.

Orchard Day on August 18 and the meeting of the Ohio State Horticultural Society on Aug. 17 at Jackson, Ohio are planned jointly by the Department of Horticulture and the officers of the Horticultural Society.

O. R. Y. Party Cancelled
The Older Rural Youth Party regularly held the second Saturday evening of each month has been cancelled for the month of August.

The camp at Camp Clifton last week-end replaced—the regular monthly meeting of the group. Their next party will be September 10 at the Xenia Armory.

Name New Executive Board Members
Two Ohio 4-H Advisors were named to the executive board of the Ohio 4-H Foundation during the first advisors' congress on the Ohio State University campus. Those named were Mrs. Calvin Retteger, Marion County and Lloyd Roby, Madison County.

At this first congress, made possible through income from the 4-H Foundation funds, 136 Ohio advisors, representing 63 counties were present. Problems relating to understanding and working with boys and girls and planning the local 4-H program were the principal items of discussion.

Mrs. Roy Purdom, Xenia township 4-H Advisor represented Greene County at the Congress.

The Hog Market
The hog market is expected to be in a rather strong position for the next four weeks, as most of the spring pig supply will not start to arrive on the market until after Mid August. Spring pigs should be pushed for an early fall market as prices are expected to break to support level when the heavy spring pig crop starts moving to market.

The support price has been established through September at over $18.00 per cwt. The support price for October will probably be considerable lower, and this fact alone should justify farmers to push hogs for the early market.

Farmer Getting Less of Food Dollar
Farmer's share of the dollar spent for food in April, 1949, was down to 49 cents, first time since May, 1948, that his share has been below half. Between November, 1943, and January 1948, the farmer's share was 55 in several months.

From Tennessee comes a new way to control crabgrass in strawberry beds; with geese, five to eight geese per acre.

TEMPERATURES
July temperatures in this area were over 40 degrees above normal for the 31 days. It was over 90 for 18 days in the month. Peak readings ranged from 94 to 98 in Greene county sections.

STEER SELLS HIGH
The grand champion 4-H club steer of the Washington C. H. fair auction sold for $819, or at the rate of $51 per pound. Ronnie McCoy owned the steer.

Dieselization Is About Complete

Dieselization railroads call it—meaning abandonment of steam locomotives and installation of diesel-electric engines.

The Pennsylvania railroad is announcing that within a short time its lines through Greene county, on both divisions, will have only diesel locomotives for passenger trains, with their use on freights rapidly approaching 100%.

Other railroads—for example the B. & O. in this area—began using diesels a dozen years ago, and that railroad has used such power exclusively for the past 10 years on all through trains. But the Pennsy, set to tradition as it were, stuck to steam power, doubling K's on heavy main line trains, and even designing a double engine, the T-1, giving coal-fueled engines a final whirl of experiment.

For a year the PRR had in service a pair of diesels on the famous "Red Arrow" between Harrisburg and Detroit.

As other roads had discovered, the operation of the diesels was only a fraction of the cost of steam locomotives, and when the management went for diesels it went all-out.

As a result Green-countains have become familiar with the smoke-free trains and accustomed, too, the low-toned whistles. There are those to whom the whistle of a Pennsy steam-engine whistle—they were about 100% uniform in tone—was sweet music, and having the cowl of the soulless robot with less personality than a light switch supplant the steam engine, makes them sad indeed. But such is progress.

The tally sheet reveals a miracle in savings in operating costs in favor of the diesel, and savings is the only hope railroads have in the wage-tax-pension dilemma they find themselves in.
